

I am writing to ask you not to proceed with expanding the Low Power FM (LPFM) broadcast service by giving LPFM priority over current FM translator service. In particular, I listen to K-LOVE radio in the Chicago area which uses FM translators and enjoy the radio stations format.

Being the father of three kids, I appreciate knowing that everything on this station is clean and child-friendly. I know that I won't have to worry about any of the shock-jocks that are on many of our other airwaves. The local community would suffer if parents and kids did not have an alternative to these other stations, especially with the lyrics that are played on the air today. We need to have a station like K-LOVE that can fill this role. In addition to the studies that have shown increased violence in kids who listen to violent lyrics, I feel that the public interest benefits from the uplifting music and conversations that are on this station. Please do not do anything that would jeopardize having this station available 24-hours a day. Thank you!
